

Managing and Improving Warehouse Operations

October 25-26, 2010, Kansas City, MO

Before you throw more money, more technology or more space at your warehousing problems—WAIT! Have you gone back to the basics? Whether you're looking to increase customer service, reduce inventory, increase productivity, handle more SKUs or operate in less space, many effective solutions are available just by re-evaluating current processes, procedures and strategies within your operation. But you need to know what to look for, which is the focus of this seminar.

You'll leave this seminar with a "Warehouse Operations Checklist," as well as practical information on the following sampling of topics:

- ◆ Understanding the "big picture" of warehousing within your company and beyond
- ◆ Methods of analyzing your layout to optimize space and techniques for selecting the right equipment for storage and handling needs
- ◆ Steps to SIMPLIFY— and increase productivity in the process
- ◆ Identifying opportunities for improvement in the most problematic areas of your facility and understanding meaningful performance metrics
- ◆ Tips for streamlining the flow of information and materials

Who should attend? New supervisors and managers in the warehouse or office, personnel in plant, inventory, materials, IS/IT, or others who want a practical overview of warehouse operations.
